

About Veterinary Ireland

Established in 2001, with a pedigree back to 1888, the role of Veterinary Ireland is to represent veterinary surgeons in Ireland and to facilitate the veterinary profession in its commitment to improving the health and welfare of the animals under its care, to protecting public health and to serving the changing needs of its clients and the community through effective and innovative leadership.

As both a trade union (affiliated to ICTU) and a trade organisation (affiliated to the SFA), Veterinary Ireland represents its members on a host of topics pertinent to the modern Irish veterinary practitioner, lobbying and negotiating with external bodies in order to express the views, aspirations and concerns of those members. In addition, Veterinary Ireland provides a wealth of advice and support to its members on a multitude of issues from employment law advice to policies and procedures.
